

INFRASTRUCTURE ANALYTICAL GRID FOR CULTURE, HERITAGE and NATURE CONSERVATION

Disclaimer: this is a working document drafted by the services of the European Commission for information purposes and it does not express an official position of the Commission on this issue, nor does it anticipate such a position. It is not intended to constitute a statement of the law and is without prejudice to the interpretation of the Treaty provisions on State aid by the Union Courts. In any case the services of the Directorate-General for Competition (DG COMP) are available to provide further guidance on the need for a formal notification. Such guidance may be given in the course of a pre-notification procedure.

I. PRINCIPLES FOR CULTURE, HERITAGE AND NATURE CONSERVATION INFRASTRUCTURE

- (1) This analytical grid covers the financing of the construction, maintenance and operation of infrastructure and sites used for activities related to culture, heritage and nature conservation. For ease of reference only, infrastructures and sites used for these activities will be qualified throughout this text as "cultural infrastructure".¹
- (2) The area of culture, heritage and nature conservation covers a vast array of purposes and activities, inter alia museums, archives, libraries, artistic and cultural centres or spaces, theatres, opera houses, concert halls, archaeological sites, monuments, historical sites and buildings, traditional customs and crafts, festivals and exhibitions, as well as cultural and artistic education activities. It covers also natural heritage, including conservation of biodiversity, habitats and species.²
- (3) The public funding of cultural infrastructure is in principle not subject to State aid rules. Given their particular nature, cultural activities for which the infrastructure is used are normally organised in a non-commercial way or are objectively non substitutable, thus excluding the existence of a genuine market; therefore they are not economic in nature³ and thus the funding of such infrastructure will not be considered as State aid.
- (4) Even if the activities for which the infrastructure is used can be qualified as economic in nature, public support measures for cultural infrastructures frequently have no effect on trade between Member States (see below Part II.3).

II. INSTANCES IN WHICH THE EXISTENCE OF STATE AID IS EXCLUDED

- (5) Please note that the following sections present a comprehensive, but not exhaustive, number of separate instances in which the existence of State aid may be excluded. These instances may apply to the owner/developer, operator or user levels, as referred to in the "introduction to the analytical grids", but also to these levels combined (e.g. integrated developer and operator).

³ See paragraphs 34 and 36 of the NoA.

1. No economic activity: cultural infrastructure not meant to be commercially exploited

- (6) The funding of cultural infrastructure not meant to be commercially exploited is in principle excluded from the application of State aid rules. Public funding of cultural infrastructure that is accessible to the general public free of charge fulfils a purely social and cultural purpose⁴ which is non-economic in nature⁵. Public financing for the preservation or restoration of tangible cultural heritage that can be visited free of charge without any limitation, and that is not used for any commercial activity, does not benefit any undertaking within the meaning of EU competition law⁶.
- (7) In the same vein, the fact that visitors of cultural infrastructures open to the general public are required to pay a monetary contribution only covering a fraction of the true costs does not alter the non-economic nature of the culture activity conducted in the infrastructure, as it cannot be considered as genuine remuneration for the service provided.⁷
- (8) In contrast, cultural activities predominantly financed by visitor or user fees or by other commercial means (for example, commercial exhibitions, cinemas, commercial music performances and festivals and arts schools predominantly financed from tuition fees) should be qualified as economic in nature. Similarly, heritage conservation or cultural activities benefitting exclusively certain undertakings rather than the general public (for example, the restoration of a historical building used by a private company) should normally be qualified as economic in nature. Accordingly, the public financing of infrastructure used for such economic activities may constitute State aid.
- (9) Finally, many cultural activities are objectively non substitutable (for example, keeping public archives holding unique documents) and thus exclude the existence of a genuine market and the economic nature of the activity. Consequently the public funding of infrastructure used for such activities falls outside the scope of State aid rules.

2. Cultural infrastructure used for both economic and non-economic activities

- (10) If cultural infrastructure is used for both economic and non-economic activities (for example, the organisation of conferences and commercial events in museums or culture centres), public funding thereof will fall under State aid rules only insofar as it covers the costs linked to the economic activities in question. In such cases, Member States have to ensure that the public funding provided for the non-economic activities cannot be used to cross-subsidize the entity's economic activities. This can notably be ensured by limiting the public funding to the

⁵ Similarly, nature protection and conservation activities that have an exclusively social character and are based on the principle of solidarity may also be considered as non-economic. Please note that these activities would not include sale of wood and meat, hunting and fishing leases, or tourism activities.

⁶ See for instance Commission decision of 20 November 2012 in case SA.34891 (2012/N) - Poland - State support to Związek Gmin Fortecznych Twierdzy Przemysł, OJ C 293, 9.10.2013, p. 1.

net cost (including the cost of capital) of the non-economic activities, to be identified on the basis of a clear separation of accounts.

- (11) In cases of mixed use, the funding of cultural infrastructure that is used almost exclusively for a non-economic activity, may fall outside the State aid rules in its entirety, provided the economic use remains purely ancillary, that is to say an activity which is directly related to and necessary for the operation of the cultural infrastructure, or intrinsically linked to its main non-economic use. This should be considered to be the case when the economic activities consume the same inputs as the primary non-economic activities, for example material, equipment, labour or fixed capital.
- (12) Ancillary economic activities must remain limited in scope, as regards the capacity of the infrastructure. In this respect, the economic use of the infrastructure may be considered ancillary when the capacity allocated each year to such activity does not exceed 20% of the infrastructure's overall capacity.

3. No potential effect on trade between Member States: purely local impact

- (13) The effect on trade between Member States for the purposes of Article 107(1) TFEU must be established on a case-by-case basis apart from cases covered by the de minimis Regulations.
- (14) Support granted under the de minimis Regulation is not regarded as State aid if no more than EUR 200 000 is granted to a single undertaking over a period of three years and the other conditions laid down in the de minimis Regulation are also respected⁸.
- (15) Even if the activities for which cultural infrastructure is used can be qualified as economic in nature, public support measures in the field of culture frequently have no effect on trade between Member States. Similarly, public financing provided to customary amenities (such as restaurants, cafes, shops, paid cloakrooms or paid parkings) of cultural infrastructures that are almost exclusively used for a non-economic activity normally has no effect on trade between Member States since those customary amenities are unlikely to attract customers from other Member States and their financing is unlikely to have a more than marginal effect on cross-border investment or establishment. In principle, only funding granted in a Member State to large and renowned cultural institutions (and events) widely promoted outside their home region have the potential to affect trade between Member States.⁹
- (16) For film studios, the high mobility of film and television productions implies that an effect on competition and trade between Member States is present¹⁰.

⁹ However, some of these cultural or heritage conservation activities are objectively unique and non-substitutable and thus exclude the existence of a genuine market, as explained above in point 9.

¹⁰ See for instance Commission decision of 8 May 2012 in case SA.22668 - Spain - Ciudad de la Luz SA, OJ L 85, 23.3.2013, p. 1.

4. No economic advantage at the level of the owner/developer

- (17) If it is proven that the State acted under the same terms and conditions as a private investor in a comparable situation when providing the necessary funding for the development of cultural infrastructure, then State aid is not involved. This can be assessed on the basis of: (i) significant pari passu investments of private operators, i.e. on the same terms and conditions (and therefore with the same level of risks and rewards) as the public authorities who are in a comparable situation¹¹; and/or (ii) a (ex ante) sound business plan (preferably validated by external experts) demonstrating that the investment provides an adequate return for the investor(s), in line with the normal market return that would be reasonably expected by commercial operators on similar projects taking into account the level of risk and future expectations¹². Note, however, that the existence of consecutive State interventions concerning the same cultural infrastructure project might invalidate the conclusion that a similar measure would also have been undertaken by a market economy investor.¹³

5. No economic advantage at the level of the operator:

5.1. Selection of the operator through a tender or fees that are otherwise in compliance with the Market Economy Operator Principle

- (18) Operators who make use of the aided infrastructure to provide services to end-users receive an advantage if the use of the infrastructure provides them with an economic benefit that they would not have obtained under normal market conditions. This normally applies if what they pay for the right to exploit the infrastructure is less than what they would pay for a comparable infrastructure under normal market conditions.
- (19) If the operation of cultural infrastructure is assigned for a positive price to a third party operator on the basis of a competitive, transparent, non-discriminatory and unconditional tender in line with the principles of the TFEU in public procurement¹⁴, an advantage can be excluded at this level, as it can be presumed that the fee they pay for the right to exploit the infrastructure is in line with market conditions.
- (20) If the operator has not been selected through a tender in line with the above conditions, it may also be possible to establish that the fees paid by the operator in line with normal market conditions through (i) benchmarking with comparable situations¹⁵, or (ii) on the basis of a generally-accepted standard assessment methodology¹⁶.

¹¹ For more details, see paragraphs 86 to 88 of the NoA.

¹² For more information see in this respect chapter 4.2 and in particular paragraphs 101 to 105 of the NoA.

¹³ See in this respect also paragraph 81 of the NoA.

¹⁴ As described in paragraphs 89-96 of the NoA.

¹⁵ See paragraphs 97 to 100 of the NoA.

¹⁶ See paragraphs 101 to 105 of the NoA.

5.2. The operation of the cultural infrastructure entrusted as a service of general economic interest (SGEI) in line with the Altmark criteria

- (21) The existence of an economic advantage at the level of the operator may be excluded, if: (i) the infrastructure project is necessary for the provision of services that can be considered as genuine services of general economic interest (SGEI) for which the public service obligations have been clearly defined; (ii) the parameters of compensation have been established in advance in an objective and transparent manner; (iii) there is no compensation paid beyond the net costs of providing the public service and a reasonable profit; and (iv) the SGEI has been either assigned through a public procurement procedure that ensures the provision of the service at the least cost to the community or the compensation does not exceed what an efficient company would require¹⁷.

5.3. SGEI de minimis Regulation¹⁸

- (22) Public funding granted for the provision of an SGEI not exceeding EUR 500 000 over three years is not regarded as State aid, provided the other conditions of the SGEI de minimis Regulation are also fulfilled.

6. No economic advantage at the level of the user

- (23) In case the user(s) are undertakings, and the operator of cultural infrastructure received State aid or its resources constitute State resources, a selective advantage at the level of the user(s) can be excluded if: (i) the cultural infrastructure is not dedicated to a specific user, (ii) all users enjoy equal and non-discriminatory access to the infrastructure and (iii) the infrastructure is made available to the users on market terms.

III. INSTANCES IN WHICH THERE IS NO NEED TO NOTIFY FOR STATE AID CLEARANCE, BUT OTHER REQUIREMENTS COULD APPLY

- (24) State aid may be considered compatible with the internal market and can be granted without notification in the following two instances:

1. General Block Exemption Regulation (GBER)¹⁹

- (25) The measure may be exempted from notification if it is granted in compliance with the conditions of the GBER. In particular, Article 53 of the GBER can apply, allowing investment aid for culture and heritage conservation²⁰ up to EUR 150 million per project, as well as operating aid up to EUR 75 million per undertaking per year. Article 14 of the GBER can also apply, allowing regional investment aid up to the maximum aid intensities established in the regional aid map. The provisions of Chapter 1 of the GBER in addition to the specific provisions in Article 53 or 14 of the GBER must be complied with.

2. Service of General Economic Interest: SGEI Decision²¹

- (26) If the infrastructure is necessary for the provision of cultural services entrusted as an SGEI, it may be considered as part of the SGEI mission. State aid for the compensation of such an SGEI up to EUR 15 million per year (average over the whole duration of the entrustment²²), is exempted from notification on the basis of the SGEI Decision, provided that the criteria of that Decision are met, in particular: definition and entrustment of an SGEI, parameters of compensation established ex ante in a transparent manner, amount of compensation not exceeding the costs for the provision of the SGEI and a reasonable profit, claw back mechanism ensuring the absence of overcompensation.

IV. INSTANCES IN WHICH NOTIFYING FOR STATE AID CLEARANCE IS NECESSARY

- (27) If the measure constitutes State aid and does not meet the conditions allowing an exemption from notification under the GBER or the SGEI Decision, State aid clearance after a notification to the Commission is required.

1. State aid for cultural infrastructure assessed directly under Article 107(3)(d) TFEU

- (28) The compatibility of aid for cultural infrastructure is normally assessed directly under the TFEU on the basis of Article 107(3)(d) TFEU, as aid to promote culture and heritage conservation. In such cases the Commission assesses whether the aid is intended for a genuine cultural objective and if the conditions of necessity and proportionality are met.

2. Service of General Economic interest: SGEI Framework²³

- (29) The compatibility of State aid for culture infrastructure which is necessary for the provision of a genuine SGEI and that exceeds EUR 15 million per year may be assessed on the basis of the SGEI Framework. Under the SGEI Framework, which is based on article 106(2) TFEU, an aid measure should comply with the following main conditions: (i) entrustment of a clearly defined and genuine SGEI, (ii) compliance with Directive 2006/111/EC²⁴, (iii) compliance with

²⁰ Including natural heritage conservation.

²² Initial support for investment on necessary infrastructure may be averaged as (annual) compensation over the entrustment period (normally 10 years, unless a longer period is justified by the amortisation of the investments) as SGEI compensation.
